Monday's meeting

Council to meet for last time this year

Campbell's city council will meet next Monday, Dec. 10, for the last time in 1973, except for possible emergency sessions or special studies.

Christmas and New Year's eves fall on the regular meeting days. The council felt it would be better to wrap up all business in one meeting in December.

The next regular meeting after Monday will be Jan. 14, 1974. (However, to make it legal, City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan will show up Dec. 24 to officially cancel that meeting.)

At next Monday's meeting, Mrs. Irma Reese, director of the West Valley Progressive seniors, will be honored as the BPW's woman-of-the-year and Police Captain Larry Kelly will also be honored for his services to the city. Kelly has been named deputy police chief at San Rafael and will leave in January.

The council also is expected to decide whether fireworks should be banned in the city or continue with the present policy. Both the sale and use of fireworks are allowed now in Campbell.

The council is also scheduled to consider the new automatic sprinkler ordinance and a new fee schedule for the fire inspection of certain hazardous businesses.

Bids for the paramedic truck that were opened this week will be considered by the council and the contract awarded next Monday.

Attorney John Thorne of San Jose has requested the council reconsider the request of Dennis L. Bennett, of 847 Sunnypark, to either eliminate the fire hydrant in his front lawn or move it to the parkway.

Delegation didn't need to protest new driveway

A large delegation of residents of Paseo de Palomas mobile home part off Union avenue was on hand Monday night at the planning commission meeting, ready to protest the request for another driveway into the private access road of the mobile home park. But the driveway was turned down without the group uttering one word of objection.

The request was submitted by Jerome Bishop on behalf of Lincoln Properties, owners of the 264-unit apartment complex that is nearing completion next to Paseo de Palomas.

One driveway for the apartments was approved originally approximately 450 feet from Union avenue but the apartment owners wanted another one to serve the rear portion of the huge complex about 900 feet from Union.

But the mobile home park-dwellers vigorously opposed the second driveway because of the increased traffic that would result.

The commission by a unanimous vote denied the request.

Also by unanimous vote the commission approved changing the zone from R-M to P-O (professional office) of a parcel of land along the expressway between Gale and Latimer.

The zone change request had been long pending before the commission and had been submitted by Sunrise Investment co. of which Lowell Grattan is president.

A petition submitted indicated that most of the residents in the Immediate area had no objections to the proposed development.

Eight new directors join Chamber list

Eight new directors join the seven held over to comprise the board of directors for the Chamber of Commerce when the new year gets under way.

In addition, there is one vacancy that remains to be filled. Mrs. Betty Borden, who would have been a holdover director, has resigned. Her replacement has not yet been named.

The seven holdover board members include: Sally Howe, now of the Metropolitan Adult Education program, (she represented the The Campbell Press when she was elected last year for a two-year term); Norma Johnson, of Deluxe Checks; Homer Hyde, Campbell Water co.; Jim Hardy, West Valley college; Jim D'Avis, Campbell union elementary school district; Jim Bower, Pacific Telephone; Jim Hardy, president, West Valley college; Dan Knowles, business service.

Directors going off the board this year after serving their two-year terms are Father Leonard Bose, St. Lucy's; John Copper, IBM; Bob Peck, principal, Campbell high; Gordon Craig, United California bank; Jack Reilly, Red Carpet advertising; Al Blaine, pharmacist; Phil Olavarri, Killroy Pest Control.

Fabbri, manager of both branches of Bank of America in town, is the only director whose term expired to be renamed to the board. Fabbri served as president last year and has indicated he will accept the same office this next year because both vice-presidents last year, John Copper and Al Baline, were unable to serve on the board this next year.

When the new board of directors meets to reorganize, first and second vice-presidents and a treasurer will be selected, along with a president. Phil Olavarri served as treasurer last year.

Adjustment requested

Elementary district diesel supply could be critical

Diesel fuel to power three of Campbell elementary school district's nine buses could be in critically short supply unless the district's application for an adjustment gets a speedy okay, according to A. O. Bachelor, district business manager.

Under the present fuel allocation measures, the local district, which received the last delivery of diesel fuel Nov. 19, would have to wait until March of 1974 before they receive more.

Allocations are based on purchase figures for 1972. In December of 1971, according to Bachelor, the district purchased a large amount of fuel and did not need more until March, 1972.

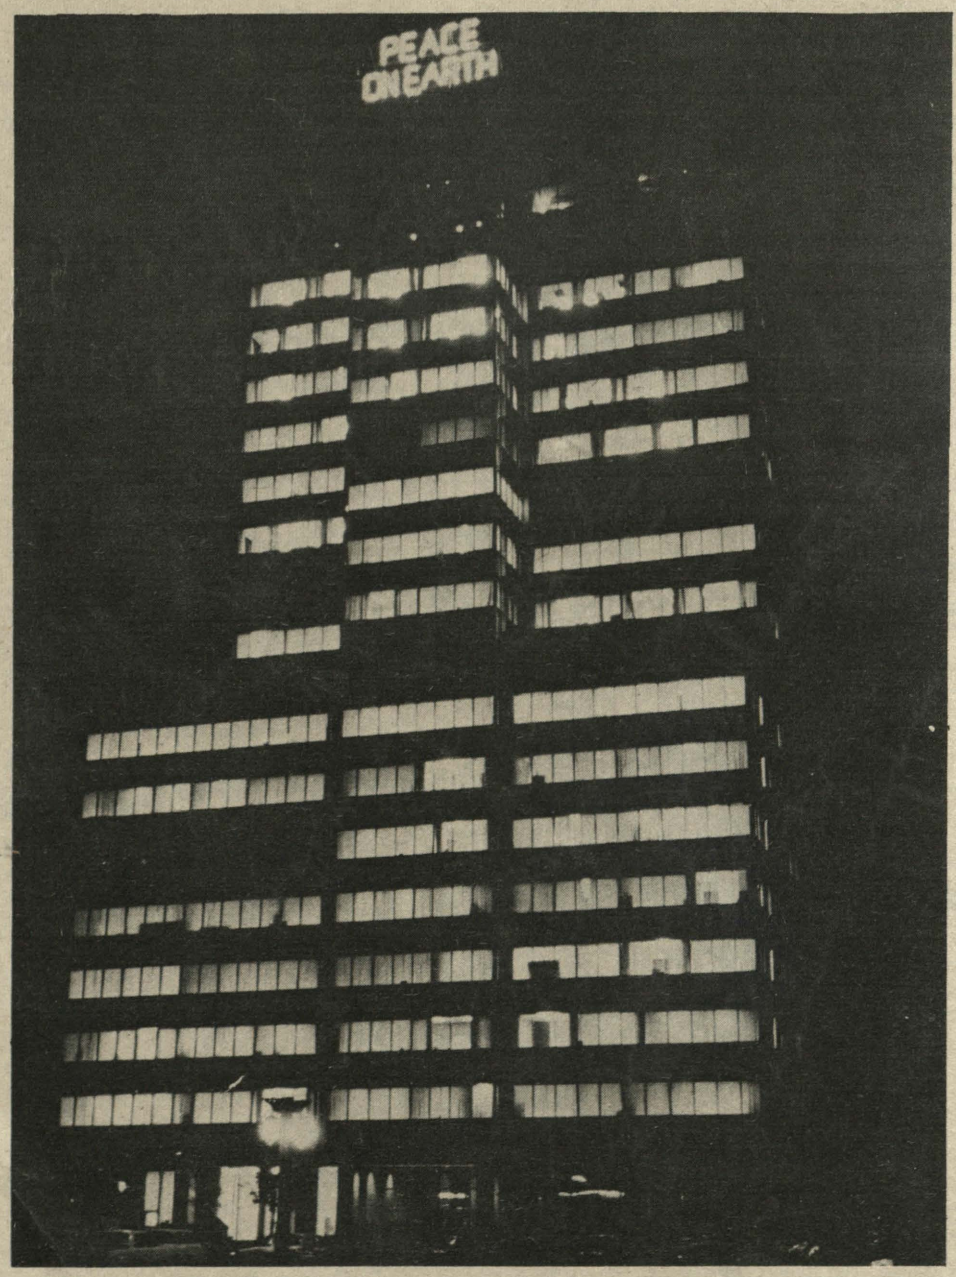
The request for adjustment was sent to the Oil and Gas office of the Department of the Interior last week. That office must respond within 15 days of receipt of the request.

The district is using about 1,000 gallons of diesel fuel at present, Bachelor said. Under the new provisions, the district would receive a total of 6,000 gallons in 1974, he said, instead of the 11,000 needed. The three buses transport an average of 485 students daily.

In addition to the problem of fuel purchase records, two other factors enter into the district's concern. First, during 1972 the district had curtailed sharply on field trips, while more had been budgeted for next year. Second, the district plans to purchase a fourth diesel bus. That proposal will come before school trustees at Thursday board meeting.

RAIN DROPS

Rain last storm:	2.60
Total rain to date:	7.32
Normal to date:	5.10
This date last year:	9.21
Total last year:	25.19



THAT FAMED "peace on earth" sign atop The Towers in Campbell, which attracted widespread attention last year, will be in place again this Christmas season. Although the period of illumination will be curtailed, the sign has complete approval of the proper city authorities. Monday night the planning commission approved Joe Dahabian's application for a special event sign, provided a building permit is obtained. Structural conditions that must be met have been outlined. The sign must be removed by Jan. 7.

HOLIDAY TRAFFIC along Campbell avenue slows things down. The already busy street has more traffic than ever, with cars backed up for blocks during peak hours.

West Valley freeway more than 10 years away

West Valley freeway (route 85) is much more than 10 years away (if it is to come into existence at all), but the state has acquired almost all the rights-of-way for the Campbell portion of the highway, state highway officials reported Monday night.

The proposed freeway would follow the southern city limits parallel to Pollard road and would extend from its present termination at highway 280 to 101 south of San Jose.

The report was made by state highway Jack Watson at the planning commission hearing Monday night.

Watson said that optimistic projections showed that one of two phases of the freeway possibly could be constructed 10 years hence but the projection of that portion through Campbell was "so far out" he couldn't hazard an estimate.

He explained that perhaps 75 per cent of the rights-of-way may have been acquired already but there are no funds available for more acquisitions.

He indicated also that it was possible the entire project could be abandoned unless the governmental agencies involved could find some way to cooperate.

If the project was abandoned, he explained, the acquired land would be sold.

School trustees affected by new bill to run again

Five of eight school trustees on three boards, whose terms expire a year early due to Senate bill 230, have indicated they plan to file for re-election.

The new bill, which consolidates local elections, had the unforeseen effect of lopping one year off the terms of eight local trustees whose terms were due to expire in 1975. Under the new bill they must now file before the Jan. 4 deadline.

The Rev. William H. (Ben) Gould, Robert W. Brydon and Robert A. Sorensen of the West Valley College district plan to seek re-election. Trustee Donald E. Lindstrom could not be reached for comment.

In the Campbell union high school district, Trustee Mac Martinez has indicated he plans to run. Bill Murphy could not be contacted.

Dr. Robert King will seek re-election in the Campbell union elementary school district. Dr. Richard MacQuiddy, whose term also expires under the new bill, could not be reached.

While emergency corrective legislation is expected to be introduced when the state legislature reconvenes in January, districts must comply with the new bill until that legislation is signed into law.

Elementary trustees to consider action on energy crisis

Impact of the energy crisis on the local school level comes before Campbell elementary school trustees at their meeting this Thursday at 7 p.m. in the district office, 155 N. Third st.

A. O. Bachelor, district business manager, will report on steps being taken in the local district to cut down on energy consumption.

Other business includes:

- A report by Superintendent James D'Avis on an affirmative action policy.
- Request for consolidation of the school board election with general elections in Campbell, Los Gatos, Monte Sereno and Saraotga on March 5, 1974.
- Appointment of a board audit committee.
- An oral report by Bachelor on a revenue increase election.
- Bid authorization for purchase of a bus and for a safety surface under playground equipment.

MacQuiddy won't file

Dr. Richard MacQuiddy informed The Press this week that he did not intend to file for reelection as trustee of the Campbell Union (elementary) school district.

City seeks representative to seniors

Residents of the community who would be interested in serving as the city's official representative on the West Valley Progressive Seniors advisory board are urged to contact city clerk Dorothy Trevethan at the city hall.

A vacancy has existed on the board since the death of Ralph Weymouth.

At the last city council meeting, the appointment was discussed but action was deferred.

The duties of the city's representative are primarily to act as liaison between the city and the senior citizens group.

Mrs. Irma Reese, director of the Progressive Seniors, and Mayor Dean Chamberlin emphasized the excellent work that the late Ralph Weymouth did while serving in the board.

Enough for 60 men

City accepts bids on equipment for police

For the first time in the history of the city, police officers will be furnished emergency equipment, including guns. Previously the police officers purchased their own weapons.

The city council has authorized the expenditure of $15,476.25 to purchase enough emergency equipment to outfit 60 men.

Federal revenue-sharing funds will be used for $15,000 and the $476.25 will be paid from the general fund.

Police Chief Don Burr informed the council the equipment would be purchased from three different firms. One of the firms was not the low bidder, he added, but the low bidder had not submitted samples of the equipment for examination as had been directed.

The council approved Chief Burr's recommendation but directed him to check with the city attorney as to whether the approved bids were proper.

Burr explained the equipment would be furnished to the 30 regular officers and also the reserves. He said that 30 reserve officers is the goal of the department. Presently there are less than 15 on the roster.

The largest expenditure was for the Smith & Wesson 4-inch, .357 combat magnum, stainless steel gun. The city purchased 60 of these weapons at a unit price of $115.50 or a total of $6,950.

In addition, 12 other Smith & Wesson 2½-inch .357 combat magnum guns were ordered at a unit price of $99.95 and a total of $1,199.40. Holsters for these guns cost $676.

Other equipment purchased included 60 duty cases ($273); 12 undercover cartridge cases, $35.40; 30 tear gas holsters ($109.50) and 60 baton rings ($63). F. M. Pitt was the successful bidder for those items.

The Hoyt Co. was the low bidder for the 60 4-inch holsters with $1,760.85.

Police Devices and Supplies was awarded the bid (subject to the city attorney review) for 60 raincoats and pants ($1,425); 60 rain hat covers $105); 60 handcuffs ($645); 60 batons ($105); 30 tear gas ($148.50) and 60 Kel-lite flashlights ($832).

In addition $200 was added for ammunition to test the weapons for the overall total allocation with tax of $15,476.25.

Santa Claus and holiday music at Christmas tree dedication

Holiday music and an appearance by Santa Claus highlight the dedication ceremonies of Campbell community Christmas tree on Monday, Dec. 10 at 4 p.m.

The large tree on the West Valley college campus, corner of Winchester boulevard and Campbell avenue, will be decorated with handmade ornaments by area youngsters. No artificial lighting will be used.

Sponsored by the Civic Improvement commission, the tree will remain decorated through Dec. 29.

Campbell fire fighters will help decorate the 40-foot tree with the aid of a huge rig. The lift equipment and operator are being donated by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company.

Master of cerelmonies will be Bruce Stevenson, principal at Rosemary school. The Dover school choir will perform, as will the "Bonnie Rosettes," a baton twirling group from Hazelwood school.

Campbell mayor Dean L. Chamberlin will dedicate the tree.

Could get $30

High school trustees turn down board pay

CAMPBELL UNION high school district trustees unanimously turned down the chance to pay themselves $30 per meeting last week.

"Serving on a school board is a rare opportunity to give of oneself," said Board President Dorothy Y. Goble, "to put a price tag on it just doesn't add up."

Voting to reject the new provision were Trustees Goble, Murphy and Rutlen. Mac Martinez and Ray A. Silva were absent but both had earlier expressed opposition to pay for school trustees, according to Mrs. Goble.

Under the new education code section, 1231, trustees may be paid $30 for each board meeting attended, up to a maximum of $200 per month. "The maximum," quipped Superintendent Nicholas Montesano, "is to make sure some boards don't begin meeting daily."

After the vote, Montesano commended the board on their actions, adding, "It (the new code) might start with $30, but it won't end there." The board also adopted a resolution to be sent to legislators expressing their objections to pay for board members. In it trustees said, "The new section 1231 is not in the true public interest and should not be continued or expanded."

IN OTHER BUSINESS the board:

- Adopted a resolution of intent to sell real property. The parcels in question, located behind Westmont high school, are being sought by the Santa Clara county Flood Control district for part of the creek development project.
- Set Thursday, Dec. 20 at 3:30 p.m. as the date of their next board meeting. The regularly scheduled meeting would fall on Christmas Day.
- Authorized the administration to enter into a driver training auto deposit agreement with Raines Chevrolet company. The resolution authorizes the Superintendent to establish a cash deposit at the auto dealership up to the sum of $135,000 in return for supplying new automobiles for the district's use.
- Adopted a revised agreement for the regional vocational center including Los Gatos in the five districts already participating. Other districts include: Santa Clara unified, San Jose unified, Milpitas unified, East Side union high school district and Campbell union high school district.

Supervisors cause fireworks ban fizzle

ATTEMPTS BY fire marshals throughout the county to spark a county-wide ban on fireworks fizzled last week when supervisors voted 3-2 against banning "safe and sane" fireworks.

Fire chiefs argued even so-called "safe and sane" fireworks are a fire hazard and unneccessary source of injury.

The majority of supervisors argued that you can go too far in legislating to protect people against themselves.

"The people of Santa Clara county are tired of the noise, the smoke and the hazard of fireworks," said Campbell fire chief Gene Borden.

Borden cited 31 injuries, including one death, from fireworks in the county last year and a $61,835 loss to property from the fires they caused.

Palo Alto fire chief Bill Korff, representing Santa Clara county fire chiefs argued: "The only ingredient we'd be missing with a total ban is profit." He added that groups that raise money selling fireworks for worthy causes "are actually doing a disservice to the community."

BUT SUPERVISOR Don Cortese argued, "Maybe people who are buying these things are unintelligent, but how can you tell people you are taking that free will away from them."

"Fireworks are just about as American as anything that's ever been," added Supervisor Ralph Mehrkens. "The idea of the government taking care of people from the cradle to the grave has got to stop somewhere."

Sunnyvale, Campbell, Los Altos Hills, Gilroy, Milpitas and Morgan Hill had recommended the ban. San Jose voted to recommend a statewide ban. Santa Clara and Los Altos did not take an action after discussion.

The vote against the ban, opposed by Supervisors Dan McCorquodale and Vic Calvo, included instructions that staff look into a possible age limit for purchasing fireworks.

They're not coming —they're here

A surprise on EPA parking regulations

Local officials learned to their surprise last week that Environmental Protection Agency regulations they expected to comment on have already gone into effect.

The regulations, which set sizeable parking fees on employers and employees initially in cities over 10,000 population, went into the law Nov. 12. This was about the time legal advisers were telling officials they had until the end of November to comment on the regulations.

"I have to correct the information I've given you," county counsel Bill Siegel told the board of supervisors last week, noting an EPA hearing in San Francisco Dec. 7 will deal only with other regulations on new rather than existing construction.

But, Siegel said, "although the regulations have been adopted the EPA has indicated they are still open for comment."

"Many of the public are attending to testify on these and I wouldn't want to discourage them," Siegel said.

Siegel will still attend the Dec. 7 meeting to present the county's argument that mass transit can only serve 2 per cent of the rides in the county, that the rulings are discriminatory against large cities, and that they should be reviewed in light of emerging energy regulations.

Campbell boy heads cast of 'Mr. Scrooge'

Steve Isom of Campbell heads the cast of 48 in the upcoming production of "Mr. Scrooge's Christmas" on Saturday and Sunday, December 15 and 16, at the Edwin Markham junior high theater. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday. The school is located on Cottle avenue in San Jose.

The holiday performance, by the San Jose Children's Musical theater, is directed by Frank M. DiNapoli.

Other Campbell youngsters performing are Jenny Eberhardt, Jim Isom, Tom, Scott and Megan Hart and Jill Boomsliter.

Child molestation is topic at home and school club Dec. 6

Prevention of child molesting is the topic of a program by the Hazelwood home and school club this Thursday, Dec. 6, at 8 p.m. in the school cafetorium.

Sergeant Don Dore of the Crime Prevention and Control division of the Campbell police department is guest speaker. His talk will cover the basics of the preventative measures program and the necessity of school and community involvement for its success, according to Karen Barry, club president. A question and answer period will follow the talk.

Interested persons from throughout the area are invited to attend, said Mrs. Barry.

The school is located at 774 Waldo ave.

Thousands in county affected

Life as a political football— confusion over welfare revisions

By SUSAN COHEN

THOUSANDS OF Santa Clara county residents have been caught in the statewide political ping-pong over implementing the federal take-over of aid to the aged, blind and disabled scheduled for Jan. 1.

A child who is in a wheelchair; a man who was badly burned and has not worked for a year but who might someday work again; a 70 year old woman who has been too proud to walk into a welfare office to ask for help — thousands in categories such as these would be eligible for aid for the first time. Because of delays in setting up the program, most of them are not yet aware of their new eligibility.

MANY OF THE 21,000 people who are already receiving aid have been calling the local welfare department in confusion and fear over what will happen to their checks.

And the county social service department's staff, reduced in anticipation of federalization, is now undermanned and swamped.

"The barricades on the doors are really symbolic of what's happening," commented one social worker, pointing to barriers which prevent applicants from invading inner sanctums, "our service to new clients coming in has been backed up for two weeks."

THE PLANNED federal take-over of the adult aid programs (other programs, including aid to dependent children, general assistance and food stamps will continue to be county administered) was the result of federal legislation, House Resolution (HR) 1.

The idea was to standardize welfare payments to these groups throughout the country. The federal government was to take on the task of setting a basic level ($130 a month) and then processing both that check and any state supplement added to it through the Social Security administration.

An added effect in California and many other states was to make many new groups eligible because federal requirements are more liberal than state rules.

IN CALIFORNIA for example, a disabled child was not eligible for aid until the age of 18, a blind child until 16. Federal aid has no age requirement. And while the state required a permanent and total disability for aid, the federal regulation stipulates only that the disability must be expected to last at least one year.

Under the law no one now receiving aid would be rendered ineligible or receive a lower payment.

"We are taking applications from everyone who is interested," said the Social Security district manager Laverne Saxberry. But, she added, "We have no way of knowing how many will really qualify, we're really in a bind."

THE UNCERTAINTY has been due to the political battle between the governor and the legislature. Reagan vetoed two bills which would have set the state supplement, saying he had the right to set a lower sum. The courts have disagreed, setting even a higher figure than the legislature had been willing to compromise on. This figure has now been compromised upon at an increase to aged and disabled recipients of $23 a month. For some recipients the increase could be as much as $48 a month over the present $212.

The delay has caused the county department to channel new clients in various directions while they were unsure of the HR1 implementation.

The board of supervisors has authorized the department to hire temporary help.

BUT THE problems are not expected to end immediately. Once the program is finally underway, Social Services director Fred Gillette estimates that it will be a hard period for 6 months to a year, although his hope is that clients won't be adversely affected.

Social worker union representative Robert Lindley predicts a 4-5 per cent mistake level in the transfer from county to federal computers.

And Saxberry admits, "Any time there is a conversion there is some fallout."

Workers also worry that clients may not get directed from the social security office back to social services for non-monetary help. There will be a liaison county worker in each office.

ARGUMENTS HAVE also revolved around whether the new program will include a requirement that responsible relatives be searched out to share the burden and a lawsuit is in process brought by handicapped students who want to retain money for hiring their own attendants rather than being forced to accept government provided attendants.

"Right now we're in never-never land," is the way one social worker describes it.

Are you eligible?

Are you eligible for aid to the aged, blind or disabled under new regulations?

Officials urge you to make an application quickly if you think you could possibly qualify.

They suggest you show up in person at any of the following social security offices which are open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.:

Sunnyvale: 505 W. Olive st.
San Jose: 500 S. First st.
East San Jose: 11413 Story road.
Palo Alto: 400 Cambridge drive.
An office will be opened in Campbell by the end of the month.

More representation

County gains in reapportionment

SANTA CLARA county gained two new assembly seats and half of an additional state senate seat in the final reapportionment decision handed down by the state Supreme Court last week.

The unanimous decision, which ratified on the whole, the plan prepared by three retired judges last August, also stated that senators with odd-numbered districts who were elected in 1972 will serve out their full term.

This means that Senators Alfred Alquist (D-SJ) and Clark Bradley (R-SJ) who have been placed into the same district will not have to run against one another. Alquist, who present district number is 13, will not have to run until 1976, although in effect he will be representing the 11th district which has no incumbent.

BRADLEY, WHOSE district number is 14, will have to run next year.

The ruling also extended the deadline for candidates to move into the districts they hope to represent, allowing until Jan. 28 rather than Nov. 5.

The two new assembly districts — the 21st in the northwest and the southerly 24th — are expected to be widely contested as they have no incumbents. The 21st, which includes Palo Alto, Mountain View and most of Sunnyvale as well as part of San Mateo county is registered 53 per cent Democratic and 40 per cent Republican.

THE 24th, which includes Evergreen, Edenvale, Morgan Hill, Almaden, Gilroy and San Benito county, is registered 56 per cent Democratic and 39 per cent Republican.

The half of a new senate district gained by the county and shared with San Mateo county is the 10th now occupied by Arlen Gregorio (D-San Mateo). It is 50 per cent Democratic and 43 per cent Republican.

HERE ARE other changes:

- 22nd Assembly district — Western Santa Clara county. Includes parts of Sunnyvale and San Jose and all of Cupertino, Los Gatos, Los Altos and Los Altos Hills. This is essentially the same district now represented by Assemblyman Richard Hayden (R-Sunnyvale), although Assemblyman John Vasconcellos (D-SJ), now falls within its boundaries.
- 23rd Assembly district — No incumbent, but essentially the same as the district now represented by Vasconcellos, including Santa Clara and most of San Jose.
- 25th Assembly district — Northeastern Santa Clara county, including most of East San Jose and all of Milpitas, which are now grouped with Fremont and Newark. Now represented by Assemblyman Alister McAlister (D-SJ).

None of the three incumbents are shifted to districts which are expected to give them hard sledding in 1974,

CONGRESSIONAL districts were also changed slightly but are not expected to cause incumbents difficulty.

Part of the 12th Congressional district occupied by Republican Pete McCloskey will be given to representatives Don Edwards (D-SJ) and Charles Gubser (R-Gilroy). Relinquishing the area, a long finger around the south end of San Jose to the east side, makes McCloskey's boundaries more logical and compact.

The major goal in reapportionment was to keep as many city and county jurisdictions intact as possible, while equalizing districts according to population.

OUT ON THE LIMB

with George Vierhus

LATELY, IN ACCORDANCE WITH the nationwide effort to conserve fuel and energy, we have been driving 50 miles per hour on the freeway.

We are old enough to remember when 50 mph was a good, fast and steady clip.

But driving at that speed today on the freeway is quite an experience. The car doesn't seem to be moving.

This week when we were clipping along at 50 per, we observed there was quite a difference in the speed our fellow motorists were traveling, as compared to the week before when we were traveling the same route.

There had been a definite and noticeable slow-down.

Of course there were those who still travel lickety-split on the freeways and appeals for voluntary energy conservation measures to them will be of no avail.

The only thing most of them will recognize will be a speeding ticket.

AFTER WE GET A LITTLE more accustomed to cruising at 50 mph instead of 60-70 or whatever, it is conceivable that we might even enjoy it.

And there should be fewer wrecks, we think.

As we have told you on a number of occasions, math, old or new, is not one of our major skills.

However, we did a little figuring with respect to an eight-mile trip we make quite regularly on the freeway.

We think we arrived at our destination two minutes later when we traveled 50 mph than we had traveled at a faster rate.

That was no big deal.

We recognize, of course, that in long journeys considerable time will be lost.

But we wonder how many times there has been this "hurry and wait" bit involved and really nothing was gained in getting to the destination sooner.

ADMITTEDLY OUR PERSONAL TRAFFIC survey as to the current speed on the freeways was pretty loose.

We didn't count the cars that passed us and stuff like that.

But it did seem that the traffic was moving slower.

Anyway it was upsetting to read a big feature story in the Merc-News the next day in which the two reporters who wrote it had come to the conclusion that very few people were adhering to the 50 mph ceiling.

They drove all over holding to the 50 mph speed and cars were constantly passing them on the left and on the right.

Then we also read a news story about one driver who had become incensed by the 50 mph rate that a person ahead of him was holding.

The irate driver managed to stop the slow-moving vehicle and then beat up the driver.

When we were doing our "survey" we did not realize we had been living so dangerously.

IN THE THANKSGIVING edition of The Press, Dick Sparrer, sports editor, did an excellent job of reviewing the gridiron rivalry over the years between Los Gatos and Campbell high schools.

This year's gridiron contest (won by Los Gatos 28-14) was the 40th renewal of the rivalry that started in 1934.

Dick, in his review, touched on some of the highlights that had occurred in this traditional battle, including the 1960 contest won by Campbell 46-26 in which the famed duo of Craig Morton and Jack Schraub put on their pass-catch act which was continued at Cal.

In Dick's story, he noted: "Professional football, real estate, bank work, sports writing and teaching are varied occupations. But someone involved in each of those fields has something in common with someone in another participation in the annual Los Gatos-Campbell football game played on Thanksgiving Day!"

He should have added another profession — police officer.

Sparrer noted that Ron Eddleman had starred in several of the Turkey Day classics, including the 1952 game won by Campbell 18-6 after losses for three years in a row.

Ron Eddlemon is a native of Campbell and the first Campbell high grad to become a member of the Campbell police department.

Sgt. Eddlemon has been an outstanding officer for all his years on the force.

We are pleased to learn that after the first of the new year, it will be Lt. Eddlemon.

In the 1952 game, Ron intercepted a Los Gatos pass for a touchdown.

He also has done a good job of "intercepting" since he has been a police officer.

As a number of would-be bank robbers could testify.

AT A RECENT city council meeting, there was considerable discussion over the report from a "task force" on the proposed vehicle maintenance pool for the city.

The "task force" was composed of Frank Lewis and Bob Dias of the public works department; John Ruppel, assistant to the city manager and Jeff Whitaker, finance director.

The group had recommended that the city replace seven of the oldest (mileagewise) sedans with seven Plymouth Satellites purchased through the state for $2,607.46 each for a total of $19,880.71.

The task force also recommended that four other automobiles now owned by the city could be assigned to the projected city hall motor pool when the seven new cars were purchased.

Quite naturally, the report provoked some interesting points of view from the councilmen. They learned also that city now owns 30 sedans, including those assigned to the police and fire departments. (It turned out there are 14 sedans other than police and fire.)

Several councilmen suggested that more study and research might be needed in the area of sub-compacts.

And some of them wondered whether six-cylinder cars might be better than eights in view of the fuel shortage that we are facing.

BY A DIVIDED VOTE, the council authorized the approval of three Satellites to replace the cars with the most mileage and directed that further study be given the whole city mobile picture.

We lay no claim to being a transportation expert but it seems logical to assume that it will cost more money to use eight-cylinder cars on short runs in town than it would if six-cylinder jobs were used.

And it also seems to us that the so-called foreign sub-compacts should not be overlooked both from the economy point of view and the amount of fuel consumed, even if it might be considered a "come-down" by some city people.

And another thing.

Maybe city personnel know something we don't know about this fuel shortage thing.

But it seems to us driving a small foreign car just might beat peddaling a bike.

Or walking.

IT IS DOUBTFUL that any resident of this community will criticize the recent city council action changing the name of Rincon Park to the John D. Morgan Park, in honor of this city's former police chief who was stricken with a cerebral hemmorrhage in Feb., 1971 and remains paralyzed at home.

We realize, of course, there are many residents of this community who may have moved here during the last few years who may not know John Morgan or what he has meant to the area.

Suffice to say that naming the park after John is just another bit of evidence indicating that his community did appreciate what the former police chief had done for them.

Approximately $24,000 was raised by the community shortly after former Chief Morgan was stricken to help defray some of the hospital expenses and the police wing at the city hall is dedicated to the former chief.

Naming Rincon Park after John Morgan probably could be considered, in some circles, a departure from the norm.

It is much "safer" from the emotional point of view to follow the policy of both the Campbell high school and elementary districts.

The districts name their schools after locations or streets. Not people.

The city hasn't such a policy, although the parks and recreation commission apparently has. For that was the reason that advisory body favored the name remaining Rincon, which locates the park.

We submit that labeling parks after councilmen willy-nilly, as was done in San Jose, is silly.

On the other hand, having an unbending policy as is the case in the school districts is equally as silly, in our opinion.

We prefer the city of Campbell's way.

If one person stands head and shoulders above all others for his community achievements, he should be honored.

Such a man is John D. Morgan.

Editorial

Should date be changed?

DURING THE PAST few weeks, most of the planning commissioners have indicated they would prefer to meet on Tuesday nights instead of Monday nights as has been the case for many years.

The Campbell Press feels somewhat responsible for the Monday night meetings. It was at the suggestion of this newspaper more than 12 years ago that the planning commission meetings were shifted from Thursday to Monday nights.

The Press pointed out that by meeting on Monday, the planning commission could get current coverage in this community's weekly newspaper.

It was explained then that because of deadlines, press runs, etc., Monday was the latest that a meeting could be held in a week and get reported in the current issue published on Wednesday.

The commissioners and the council felt that this current news coverage outweighed a more convenient meeting date.

THE SITUATION today pertaining to current coverage has not changed. The deadlines, etc. are the same as far as the Press is concerned now as they were when the meeting was shifted to Monday some 12 years ago.

The Campbell Press has no objection to a change in the meeting date of the planning commission, provided the commissioners recognize that, if the date is changed, news coverage will be curtailed.

The Press, however, is somewhat critical of some of the reasons that have been advanced advocating the change from Monday to Tuesday.

We note that the minutes report. . ."and then there is football on Monday evening. . . ."

That was suggested faceitiously but still it did raise a few eyebrows in the community. It was felt that the planning commission's functions were a little more important.

It was also submitted that it was inconvenient for some business people to meet on Monday morning for the architectural review committee. And the Planning staff indicated that a change to Tuesday would give them more time to coordinate all the comments from the departments, etc. that are necessary for the agenda packet.

However, we think it resolves itself simply into the issue of how important current news coverage is to the community and-or the planning commission, not necessarily in that order.

Hospitals to join WVC in health training program

West Valley college and a hospitalwide consortium of eight local hospitals have taken initial steps to develop a cooperative program in education and training.

West Valley college was given a grant earlier this year by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation which provided $34,092 to conduct a three-year pilot program in the health field. West Valley was joined in this project by eight hospitals in the area.

West Valley's program was one of 30 funded throughout the United States. One of the first recommendations of the local consortium was for each individual hospital to send a representative to the college so individual needs could be identified.

During the first assessment session, conducted by Kate Lorig, Kiaser Hospital of Santa Clara sent supervisors, directors and department heads to delineate Kaiser's needs. In addition these people met with counselors from the college and toured the Saratoga campus.

Other hospitals taking part in the consortium are O'Connor, Campbell Community, San Jose, Santa Clara Valley Medical center, Good Samaritan. Los Gatos-Saratoga and Valley West.

Faithful even in Lake county

EDITOR:

As you may know, I now live in Lake county where I regularly find my copy of the Campbell Press in my post office box each Thursday morning.

After having lived many years in Campbell, it is nice to be able to keep some contact with your wonderful community and to read about my many friends there. I don't know when my subscription comes due for renewal, but please don't forget to send me a statement so that I can continue receiving the Press.

Was there for the first annual Campbell Little League winter banquet. They had a great turnout. I will especially miss that activity next season after having been a member of that league since 1962. I do plan, however, to manage a team here in the Konocti Little League.

Is Sally Howe still with you? If so, give her my regards - and the same to you and the rest of your staff.

Junior League sale a success

EDITOR:

The Junior League of San Jose, inc., held a very successful rummage sale. The latest figures, though still unofficial, are $29,000.

The photographic and journalistic coverage you provided for us were outstanding in every way.

The money you enabled us to earn for our community trust fund will benefit a multitude of people.

Thank you.

Los Gatos creek efforts clarified

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was written by Edith Morley, long-time chairman of the Campbell Parks and Recreation commission and a member of the Los Gatos Creek committee. She felt that a recent Campbell Press editorial needed clarification. The usual 300-word limit on letters to the editor was waived for Mrs. Morley.)

EDITOR:

I feel that the editorial in the Campbell Press on Wednesday, Nov. 14, deserves comment, particularly as to the implication that time is wasting for action on the development of Los Gatos Creek.

While I don't take issue with your, or anyone's, desire for accomplishment, I do feel that the magnitude of the effort and consequent complications should be clarified.

There has been a series of meetings and discussions since August 1969 among individuals representing agencies involved in the development of the creek area: The County Parks and Recreation department and commission, Town of Los Gatos, County Flood Control district and the City of Campbell Parks and Recreation commission. This group is known as the Los Gatos Creek Development committee.

In the beginning they met in the interest of furthering some trailway plans with the hope also that something "aesthetic" could be done in an effort to make the area more appealing to the eye, particularly because of its prominence from highway 17. The Committee was immediately confronted with certain major obstacles. Among them: an operating construction fund totaling zero and no apparent prospect for a change; a physical problem of access in the area south of the percolation ponds where private ownership extends to the center line of the old channel and precluded public use; a hesitation for a short period on the part of the Santa Clara County Flood Control and Water Conservation district to sanction a use which would imply certain legal liabilities for safety, etc.; and a lack of public enthusiasm for the project. If such a project were started today, with the increased awareness of environmental problems, a lack of interest would not be as evident.

The problem continued to the point where despair on the part of the committee began to dominate. Very recently this despair was eliminated for the most part because of a deluge of funds for the project. This reversal came as a result of a number of factors, the most prominent being the increased awareness of the importance of environmental efforts as well as certain marked changes of attitude on the part of all participants.

The city of Campbell earmarked federal revenue sharing funds for the project. This together with funds allocated by the flood control district represents a significant ability to now physically tackle what had previously been only a concept.

The concept itself has broadened into what appears to be an exciting approach which will provide an extremely functional and popular recreational area. Some of these exciting possibilities are:

- Soften the sterile look by actually removing and relocating some of the dike structure from its present location to an area easterly and adjacent to the freeway shoulder so that noise of the freeway is screened out.
- Contour the area, make hills and valley, as earth construction people are often looking for disposal sites.
- Put in planting of a natural variety to create a lush environment with varying woods and with picnic tables and overlooks placed in these areas.
- Bike trail systems for an extremely pleasurable experience.
- Change the configuration of the percolation ponds into more natural forms while still maintaining their functional use with plantings to enhance the setting.

Possible future plans include: a climbing rock for mountain climbing practice, kayak and-or raft runs, etc. A detailed master plan to incorporate all the worthy ideas in an organized fashion is under preparation by experts and varied agreements between all parties concerning usage, liability and maintenance have been executed.

This letter is being presented in the hopes of stirring your imagination and that of your readers. The next important step is the incorporation or elimination of input of thoughts to the master plan. Then the proper expenditure of the funds can be planned. It would be hoped that the participation of service clubs and public groups in assistance at "plant-ins," etc. would be possible. In this way the project would take on the appearance of a "community" effort.

Edith Morley, vice chairman,
Los Gatos Creek Committee

Outstanding students named by Optimists

Lynn Olivarri

Campbell high and Del Mar high seniors were recently honored by the Campbell Optimist club as "Outstanding Students" at a luncheon meeting in San Jose.

Lynn Olivarri and Jeanette Johnson received awards and gift certificates from the Campbell group.

The honored students were selected by officials of the Campbell union high school district for their outstanding abilities and accomplishments.

Lynn, who lives at 1341 Clover ave., San Jose, has maintained a 3.9 grade point average at Del Mar, and is active in several school organizations. She has spent two years in the rally club, two years in spirit commission (one year as secretary), three years in girls' sports and one year on the art commission. She is also a member of the honor society, California Scholarship federation, and is a Red Cross volunteer.

Jeanette, 261 Christopher ave., is C.S.F. president at Campbell, Student Manager and a member of the senior cabinet. She also serves as a student council representative, is a member of the pep club and publicity chairman for the senior play.

Her outside interests include playing the piano and guitar, leading a girls' church club, The Missionettes, and she is a member of the church choir, vice president of the church youth group, and music director for several youth camps.

Jeanette has performed vocally on radio, in talent contests, weddings and conventions, and makes overseas tapes as well as performing in folk concerts.

Donkey basketball brings hilarity, but faculty wins

Last Tuesday night the donkey basketball game pitted the male faculty against the Jocks of Block "W." It was quite a hilarious show.

The donkeys wore special shoes so as not to damage the gym floor. Bareback pads added a bit of cushioning to the rider's seat. The Burro Sports club is the owners of the stubborn mounts. They also provide mules for softball games and have been operating for quite a few years.

The rules of the game are very simple. To score you must be atop the animal from which you pass the ball and "dribble" down the court. It requires a certain amount of skill and dexterity to hold a basketball while attempting to get astride a moving mule.

High scorer for the dauntless faculty was our illustrious bandleader, Mr. Wallace, who developed a knack for stealing the ball from an opponent. Other faculty members included the principal, Mr. Buonocore; the director of activities, Mr. Hege; the jaunty journalism teacher, Mr. Sullivan; the business teacher, Mr. Crabtree; the wood shop teacher, Mr. Boyd; and coaches Mr. Massengale, Mr. Odale, Mr. Brinck, Mr. Zirzow, and Mr. Samples. Star Jocks for Block "W" were Steve Sieraski and Kip Carpenter. Among the others involved in this comedy were Bill Gerould, Jerry Machado, Gary Deats, Jerry Porter, Kevin Nagle, John Magee, and Pat Donahue.

In the end the faculty was the victor, winning in the final minutes with a score of 26-24. The Block "W" made a last magnificent effort to score yet couldn't get their donkeys in gear.

UPCOMING NEWS AND EVENTS

Today is the start of the annual Westmont high school Christmas basketball tournament. It is held every year at this time and seven other schools from the area are invited to participate in this event. The tournament lasts four days with the victor being decided on Saturday.

Tickets for the Christmas ball are now on sale. The cost will be $3.50 per couple and "Chosen Few" will play. Many Westmont students will remember them as the band that played at the junior prom last year.

A FROGGY KISS was presented to Del Mar student Kristi Buckenmayer during the recent Santa Claus parade in San Jose. Kristi is among three Del Mar students who are competing in the Junior Miss contest semi-finals Dec. 8. Also pictured above are Debra Hartley, Los Gatos high, and Desiree Goyette, Del Mar, both finalists. The frog? He's Smoggy, from the smog patrol of the San Jose Chamber of Commerce.

Children's shelter school named C.W. Washington

A school started last spring at the county children's shelter will be named C.W. Washington school, after the late Rev. C.W. Washington. The school is for children awaiting a court decision placing them in a foster home or elsewhere.

The recommendation for the school's name came from a committee of school administrators from various districts, plus a teacher and student from the school at the children's shelter.

Young people staying at the shelter used to go to area schools, but now attend C. W. Washington.

"Rev. Washington was a champion of programs to help disadvantaged children, and this school is appropriately named for a person who cared," county school superintendent Glen W. Hoffman said in explaining the decision.

Three Del Mar girls are Junior Miss finalists

Three Del Mar high school seniors are among finalists in the 1974 Junior Miss contest.

Kristi Buckenmayer, Desiree Goyette and Lynn Hunt, were chosen to represent Del Mar in the contest and all three made it to the finals.

The Junior Miss Contest will be held here on Saturday, Dec. 8, at 8 p.m. at the Montgomery theatre in San Jose. Winner that night will go on to the state finals and the state winner goes on to represent California in the nationals.

Buildings closed to conserve energy

Campus buildings that are non-residential are being shut down between midnight and 6 a.m. at the University of Santa Clara.

This is one of the university's efforts to conserve energy.

Robert F. Peterson, director of buildings and grounds, said that savings alone is equivalent to operating 9,000 100-watt lamps.

In anticipation of president Nixon's energy announcements, Peterson said the university switched 20 trucks of various sizes earlier this year for 20 surplus three-wheeled scooters from the post office. "It makes more sense for one workman to use a scooter rather than a big truck for every job he is called to do on campus," Peterson pointed out.

Day and night crews in housekeeping were combined more than a month ago to conserve energy, and operate one shift now from 6 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Music study club solo auditions set

The San Jose Music Study club has announced its annual solo artist award auditions to be held February 2, 1974.

A cash award of $100 will be given to the first winner, $50 to the second winner, for a recital appearance at our regular meeting on April 17, 1974.

Entry forms, which may be obtained by writing to committee chairman Mrs. Martha Ames, 1110 Norval Way, S.J. 95125 must be submitted no later than Jan. 19, 1974.

Berquists will serve as presidents

Dr. Herbert C. Berquist will serve as the president of the Santa Clara County Dental society for the term 1973-74. His wife, Mrs. Helen Berquist, will serve as president of the auxiliary to the Santa Clara County Dental society for the same term.

Dr. Berquist has had his oral surgery practice in Saratoga since 1960. He is a native of Michigan, but received his D.D.S. and Masters degrees at the University of Oregon.

He has been a past president of the West Valley, San Jose Kiwanis club and is a member of the staff of Los Gatos Community, Good Samaritan and San Jose hospitals.

Mrs. Berquist is a native of Missouri who has been an oral surgery assistant and a professional model.

Eskimo art at Triton

A DISPLAY OF photographs of California missions and an exhibit of Eskimo prints and carvings will highlight December exhibits at Triton museum, 1505 Warburton ave.

Eskimo art will be on display in the main pavilion and mission photos by Marvin Wax of Palo Alto will be hung in Hall pavilion.

The collection of 12 prints and 13 carvings from the Eastern arctic represent the best work of 20 Eskimo artists. The works are recent, dating from 1968. Carvings are made of highly polished stone, ivory and whalebone.

A reception on Sunday, Dec. 9 from 1 to 5 p.m. will honor photographer Marvin Wax, who will be on hand to talk to visitors about his photography. Sponsored by Triton Women's guild, the reception is free and open to the public.

Holiday art festival features display by Moorpark students

The art work of each child at Moorpark school will be displayed at the annual "Holiday Festival of Arts," on Wednesday, Dec. 12, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the school cafetorium.

The school is located at 649 Thornton way, San Jose.

Vandals break store windows

Vandals on a window breaking spree in Los Gatos last Sunday morning caused thousands of dollars of damage, police said.

According to Lt. Edward McGowen of the Los Gatos Police department, at least 19 businesses and nine individuals suffered property damage.

Marbles were propelled through the windshields of nine cars in the northeast section of Los Gatos.

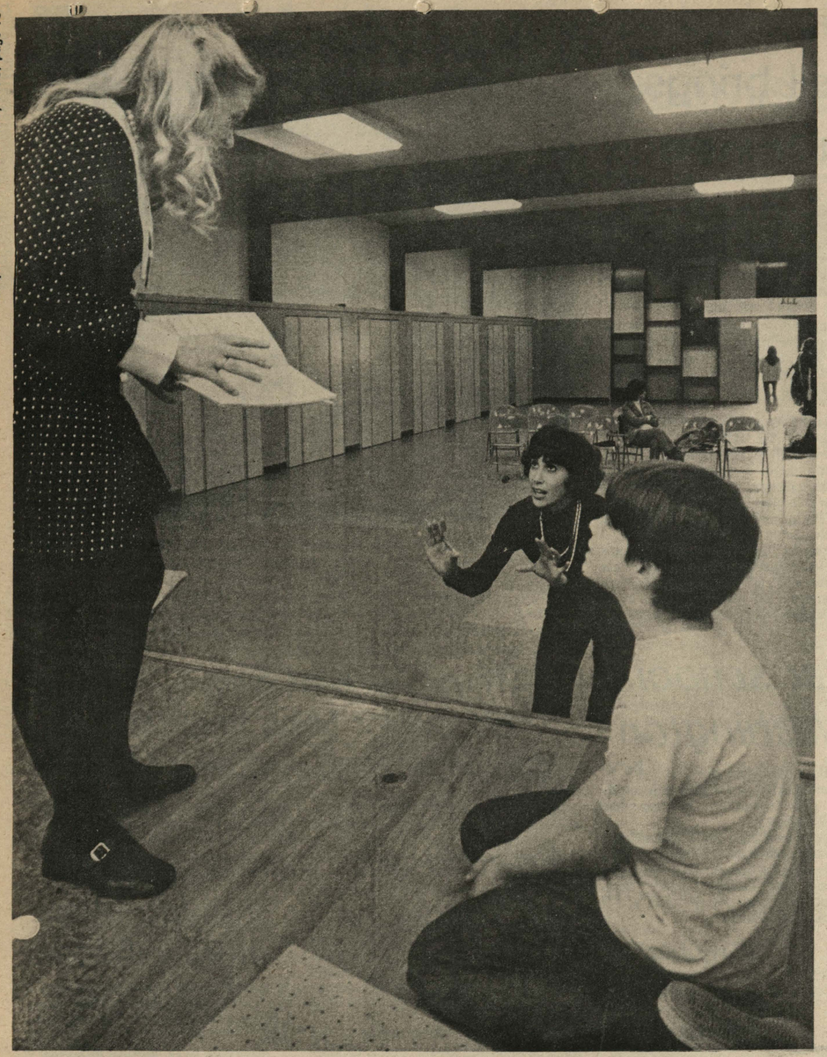
In the downtown section, plate glass windows were broken in 19 stores, including a supermarket and bank. Investigators found marbles inside the damaged buildings, McGowen said.

Career information center opens at Westmont high

Information about a variety of careers is available at Westmont high school's new Career Information center.

A project of the Westmont PTSA, the center will also house the Work Experience program, according to principal George Buonocore.

The center is open each school day during the rest of the school year and is staffed by PTSA volunteers.



DIRECTING scene from the spring production of Alice in Wonderland is Lee Garay. On stage are "Alice" Lorri Caprista and Karl Hofer. With final rehearsals underway for "The Sentimental Scarecrow" opening on Friday, Dec. 7, work is already underway for CAST's next performance.

REGISTERING for "Alice in Wonderland" auditions last week was Tani Minor from Castlemont school. Getting the information is personnel director Janet Cesena, who also serves on the CAST board of directors.

Campbell's C.A.S.T.

The smell of the greasepaint.....

THE CAMPBELL Civic Actors Seminar Theater (C.A.S.T.), now in its third year, has come a long way since its first production—"Little Women" — in the summer of 1970.

That performance was part of the Campbell elementary schools summer recreation program.

Now C.A.S.T. is an independent group. Its next performance, "The Sentimental Scarecrow," opens Friday Dec. 7 in the Camden high cafetorium. Repeat performances will be Dec. 8, 14 and 15. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

FOUNDED BY Jean Angulo and Phyllis Hofer (later joined by Barbara Green), C.A.S.T. has had over 200 youngsters and adults participate since its beginning.

Most performances come off without a hitch. But there have been some pretty humorous incidents. Like the tree that began moving stage left during a tender scene, and the stubborn goat who wouldn't come on stage with a tug-of-war, both in last year's production of "Heidi."

HOW TO SNEEZE is demonstrated by assistant director Anita Nethercutt to "Alice" (Lorri Caprista). The CAST rendition of the H and H Gaul musical satire will be performed in the Spring of 1974.

Painting sets for "The Sentimental Scarecrow" are Kelly Bettencourt and David Dumers, lead of the junior cast. The latest offering is an all-youth production. Senior lead went to Krista Skoff. Tickets are $1.25 for adults, 75 cents for children. Call 379-7735 for more information.

LEGAL NOTICE

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, December 15, 1973, will mark the 182nd anniversary of the Bill of Rights, those first ten amendments to the United States Constitution which are so deeply involved with individual rights under our form of government; and

WHEREAS, the importance of these amendments and the basic tenets of the Constitution have been in the spotlight these past twelve months and have again proven their timeless nature and unfailing strength; and

WHEREAS, the Bill of Rights Commemoration Committee again is supporting the December 9-15 observance of BILL OF RIGHTS WEEK, a tribute it started thirty-three years ago in California and which now is widely observed throughout the nation; and

WHEREAS, the Commemoration Committee and many other court and governmental agencies, schools, churches and temples and fraternal and patriotic societies will be observing the occasion in various and appropriate ways.

NOW, THEREFORE, we do proclaim and urge observance of the period of December 9 through December 15 as BILL OF RIGHTS WEEK, calling on all residents of the City of Campbell to join in a public commemoration, if possible, and to take the few minutes needed to re-read these important amendments, part of our heritage and fundamental law; we further suggest an appropriate showing of the national colors during the period.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Campbell to be affixed.

DATED this 26th day of November, 1973 A.D.

HRC meets to review Terry hearing reports

A special meeting to review reports coming out of the Ralph Terry hearings will be held by the county human relations commission Thursday, Dec. 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Terry, a black man, was shot and killed by a white sheriff's deputy after a chase last spring.

Neither the Sheriff's department nor the county grand jury took action against the deputy.

The county human relations commission held a series of hearings several months ago probing the incident and procedures that were followed. They are expected to come up with recommendations on gun-handling, training, and reporting within the Sheriff's department.

Among the reports to be discussed is one prepared by Tony Amsterdam, well-known Stanford Law professor who was commissioned by the Santa Clara Valley Black Caucus to observe the hearings and make recommendations.

The meeting will be held at 70 W. Hedding street, San Jose, room 624.

Public relations coordinators to work for Campbell schools

Public relations coordinators for the 19 Campbell elementary district schools were announced recently.

Function of the volunteer coordinators is to write news items and stories of activities at the local school level.

These stories are then sent to the district Office of Informational Services which coordinates all releases.

Local volunteers and their schools are: Gail Williams, Moorpark; Marion Bishop, San Tomas; Helen Daniels, Hazelwood: Marianne Palmer, Hamilton; Darlene Balbas, Rosemary; Michele Zalesny, Cypress; Sally Rueter, Quito; Pat McCullough, Campbell; Claudette Vainisi, Dover; Maryann Barbour, Monroe; Lois Itow, Sherman Oaks; Leonore Lopes, Parkway; Bernice Weber, Blackford; Caroline Hastings, Lynhaven; Ken Meinecke; Marshall Lane; Gene Smith, Forest Hill; Dorothy Diaz, Rolling Hills; Jill Beatty, Capri, and Dottie Mitchell, Castlemont.

Robert Brandon makes guitar debut Friday

Music from the Renaissance to the 20th century will be performed by Robert Brandon, classical guitarist, at his professional debut this Friday, Dec. 7, at 8 p.m. in the West Valley college theater in Saratoga.

The young performer, who began his studies locally in 1963, has been studying for the past five years with the Argentine master Manuel Lopez Ramos, both in his international master classes and privately in Mexico City.

Tickets for the performance are available at the door.

WVC jazz ensemble and symphonic band in winter concert

The annual winter concert of the West Valley college symphonic band and jazz ensemble will be presented Wednesday, Dec. 12, at 8 p.m. in the new Saratoga campus theater.

Highlights of the program for the symphonic band include "Colas Breugnon Overture," "Euryanthe Overture," "Candide Overture," the Finale from "Symphony No. 1" by Kalinnikov and others.

Two student jazz ensembles will perform music from the libraries of Stan Kenton, Thas Jones-Mel Lewis, Johnny Richards, Sam Nestico and Don Schamber.

The concert is free and the public is invited to attend.

Poems set to music featured in concert at WVC on Dec. 18

Poems by Robert Frost and Edwin Markham, set to music by American composers, will be featured by the West Valley college concert choir and college chorale at the 10th annual winter concert on Tuesday, Dec. 18. The performance begins at 8 p.m. in the Saratoga campus theater.

The 65-voice concert choir is directed by Kathryn Huss. The college chorale of 30 voices is directed by Kenneth Jewell.

The concert is free and the public is invited. The new theater is located on the Allendale avenue entrance to the college.

Siren sounds

YOU GOT ME ALL WRONG

When the Campbell police officer spotted a man behind a local interior decoration shop early Saturday, he stopped to investigate. According to reports, the man was busy wiping off an old leather chair with his shirt. Inside the car was an antique cash register.

The window of Garner Studios, 397 E. Campbell ave., was found broken and the two antique items missing.

The suspect protested that he had returned to his car and found someone had placed the stolen articles inside.

The 26-year-old Cupertino man was arrested at the scene.

FELONY HIT AND RUN

Campbell police are seeking the driver of a car which sped from the scene after colliding with another car in a shopping center parking lot at Campbell avenue at San Tomas Aquino road last Friday.

Driver of the other car, a 17-year-old Campbell girl, was taken to Good Samaritan hospital with moderate injuries.

TOOL THEFT

Power and woodworking tools, valued at over $1,400, were reported stolen from Boyd Bilt Enterprizes, 166 Kennedy ave. B, last Friday.

ARMED ROBBERY

A suspect wearing "ratty" blue jeans, with a mustache and collar length hair, reportedly threatened the clerk at the Stop and Go Market, 1859 Bucknall road, with a gun last Friday and escaped with an undisclosed amount of cash.

PUBLIC FIGHT

What began as an argument over a girl between two individuals, mushroomed into a fight involving some 15 to 20 persons last Thursday night.

According to reports, the altercation took place in "The Bodega," when one young man took a swing during an argument with another man.

He was ejected from the restaurant but returned a short time later with two friends. The invitation "to step outside" was accepted by friends of both combatants and some 15 to 20 individuals were involved before police arrived to break up the melee.

DIDN'T WANT A TICKET

The 22-year-old Campbell man who told police he didn't want to stop because he had an outstanding traffic warrant out for his arrest, was in custody last week on suspicion of eight criminal charges stemming from the high speed chase which left two police cars damaged and the suspect's car a wreck.

According to reports, the man led 15 police cars from Campbell, Los Gatos, the County Sheriff's office and Highway Patrol on a chase which ended when the suspect's car was rammed by a sheriff's deputy's car at the corner of Tait and Nicholson avenues in Los Gatos.

Earlier the suspect broke out of a police car blockade when he rammed another police unit.

Arrested at the scene was Michael Lester Osorio.

TOUCHDOWN SHENANIGANS

There was a time when a player scored a touchdown and calmly dropped the ball to the endzone turf or casually flipped it to an official. But not anymore!

It seems like now every time an athlete scores a touchdown, it's his cue to start a performance.

Touchdown rituals range from as minor an explosion as spiking the ball into the ground to dropping to the knees in what might resemble a Cherokee rain dance!

Things are getting a bit carried away in the endzone. It has gotten so out of hand that spiking was ruled illegal for this high school season.

The penalty was seldom called but oftimes I noticed officials call back players to retrieve the football after celebrating their tally.

On one occasion a prepster scored a two point conversion late in a game and spiked the pigskin into the ground, the unsymmetrical sphere bounding off the field and onto the track.

But the player's excitement was short lived when the official recalled him to the field after he had almost reached the bench and made him retrieve the football while all other action came to a screeching halt. That probably had more effect on the gridder than any 15 yarder.

Spiking had to be stopped because of the time consumed chasing footballs after scores. Can you imagine the weary official who has to chase the ball in a 48-34 game?

The TD ritual dances don't cause anyone undue time, but they sure look stupid.

The pros started it all but even they don't live-it-up after a touchdown anymore, with the exception of a possible winning touchdown in a close game or upset victory.

It's just obvious how far athletes will carry things after scoring points in prep events.

Instead of just one player dancing on the ground in the endzone after tallying a touchdown, the whole team will split into pairs and dance the polka around the guy who scored.

And the water-boy will have to roll out a red carpet to the goal-line and the head song girl would escort the point-getter to the sidelines.

And the festivities would have to spill over to the other sports.

Basketball players will want to get into the act and celebrate their points. But a lot of high scoring players might end up with some severe floor burns on their knees if they try the famous football dance — not to mention the advantage the other team will have going against only four other players while one is in the backcourt doing the two-step on his knee-caps. I'd sure like to have the knee pad concession!

Things would be real tough for water-polo players. After scoring they'd have to get a good lungful of air to slither to the bottom of the pool for a celebration dance.

And if wrestlers tried a dance after scoring their first points in a match, they'd have a tough time staying off their backs to finish the bout!

It could get out of hand.

Former area prep cagers highlight SJS tourney

Products of local high schools will highlight the show this week when the second annual Spartan Foundation frosh-junior varsity basketball tournament gets underway at San Jose state university's Spartan gym.

The three day affair began last Monday with the finals set for Wednesday, Dec. 5. Action starts Wednesday at 4 p.m.

Ticket prices are $1 general admission and 50 cents for all students. Three games are on tap Wednesday.

The fifth place battle will be played at 4 p.m., the third place match-up at 6 p.m. and the championship game at 8 p.m. All-tournament and most valuable player selections will be announced following the final game.

San Jose state, last year's tourney champ, looms as the favorite again this year along with California. Pacing the young Spartans are guards Rick Younge and Steve Friar and forwards Grady Roberts, Bill Gray and Larry Bowles. Art Meade (Del Mar), Ken Lucas (Leland) and Pat Hughes (Branham) are able standby's on the SJSU bench.

Other teams in the tourney include St. Mary's UC Davis, Sacramento state, Hayward state, Sonoma state and Fresno state. Tim Forbes (Branham) is a starting forward at Fresno.

WVC grapplers open league against Canada

Hoping to initiate their 1973-74 Camino Norte conference wrestling season with a win, the West Valley college Vikings will host Canada Thursday night at WVC (Saratoga campus) in a 7 p.m. bout.

Two days later the Vikings will be in Cupertino for the annual De Anza invitational at De Anza college. The first bouts begin at 10 a.m. Saturday morning.

West Valley bagged its first two wins of the season recently against the College of San Mateo and Cabrillo in non-conference action.

The Vikings lost just two matches in a 43-8 waltz over San Mateo. Three consecutive pins by Mike Donecho (Campbell), 150, Dave Rodrigues (Camden), 158, and Gary Stevens (Los Gatos), 167, iced the match early for the Vikes.

Jamie Wheeler (Campbell) won his 134 pound bout with ease 21-5. Don Arata (Peterson) recorded a 4-0 shut-out at 177. Rob Evans (Camden), 118, Steve Duran (Santa Clara), 126, and Greg Wacker (Prospect), 190, all won by forfeits in their matches.

Against Cabrillo it was the heavy weights who paced the Vikes to a 34-15 triumph.

Going into the 177 pound bout, West Valley held a slight 16-15 lead. But Tom O'Keefe (Branham), 177, pinned his man at 4:55 of their bout and 190 pound Ben Navarette (Santa Clara) won by forfeit to clinch the match for WVC.

Wacker then put the icing on the cake with a pin in 2:35 of his heavyweight bout.

Helping to build up the Vike's slim lead in the lower weights were Bruce Lemos (Los Gatos), Duran, Mike Mullis (Branham) and Louie Eagan (Branham).

Lemos recorded a superior decision 15-0 win at 118 while Mullis did the same with a 14-2 win at 142. Duran won his 126 pound match by forfeit.

Eagan scrambled to an 8-8 tie thanks to an escape maneuver with just 30 seconds left in his 150 pound bout.

7th renewal of Westmont hardcourt classic set

While die-hards still cling to the drama of the last few football games of the 1973 season, others around the area are already thinking basketball.

And some, at least the prep cagers, are already playing their favorite game.

Not too many people will be thinking football around Westmont high school this week, as the Warriors host their seventh annual Westmont varsity basketball tournament Wednesday through Saturday in their home gym.

Eight teams from three different leagues will invade the Warrior gym for tourney action Wednesday and Thursday.

Los Gatos of the West Valley athletic league and Pioneer of the Santa Teresa loop will play the tourney opener Wednesday, Dec. 5 at 7 p.m.

Thursday at 7 p.m. Saratoga of the WVAL will clash with Monta Vista of the Santa Clara valley athletic league.

In the final first round game Branham of the WVAL meets Cupertino of the SCVAL at 8:30 p.m.

The second round games in the winner's bracket will be Friday at 7 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. and losers will play earlier at 4 p.m. and 5:30 p.m.

The consolation title will be decided at 4 p.m. Saturday when the winners of the loser's bracket meet. Third place will be up for grabs at 5:30 p.m. and the championship game will follow at about 7 p.m.

Westmont of the WVAL, the host school, will battle Leland of the STAL at 8:30 p.m. the first night.

All-comer track, field meets continue Saturdays at SJCC

The all-weather San Jose city college track will be the site of nine all-comer track and field meets from December through February.

The all-comers meets began last Saturday and will be held every Saturday (with the exception of January 19) through February 2.

Quarter inch spikes or flats are required for competition on the Jaguar surface and weightmen must supply their own equipment.

Field events begin at 9 a.m. and running events start at 9:30 a.m. weekly. Field events include the discus, long jump, shot put, triple jump, high jump and pole vault. The running events are the 60 high hurdles, 60 yard dash, 220, 440, 880, mile, two mile, 440 relay and mile relay.

The entry fee is 25 cents per event. The divisions of competition will be open and high school.

For more information contact SJCC track coach Bert Bonanno (298-2181, ext. 227).

Optimism reigns on hardwood at Prospect—3 starters back

By DAVE MENDONCA

"I think we should have a good season this year," predicted Prospect basketball coach Bert Robinson. "We're stronger than last year because we have three starters returning."

The letterman trio of Mark Samson, Tom Laspina and Reece Browning are the reasons for Robinson's optimistic outlook on the 1973-74 season.

Browning, a 6-3" forward, was one of the Panther's top scorers last year and figures to be one of their top point getters again this season.

Samson, 5'10", and Laspina, 5'11", give Prospect a pair of well sized and experienced ball handlers at the guard spots.

Prospect's future would be even rosier if they could start the season with big Ross McCammon, the Panther's center. But McCammon will not see action for at least two months due to a shoulder injury suffered during football season.

So instead of McCammon at the pivot, Jeff Walters, 6'4", and John Griffan, 6'5", will battle it out for the number one spot in the middle.

Walters, according to Robinson, has the inside track early in the season but both players will see plenty of action.

Other players who figure to give the Panthers good depth are center-forward Jay Potts, forwards Bob Marsh, Jack Freeland, Nick Bibich and Rick Garrett and guards Greg Silva, Harold Elrod, Brad Mandell, Bobby Martinez, Neal Sackette and Frank Visser.

Visser and Sackette are a pair of promising juniors up from last year's frosh-soph team. Visser is rated by Robinson as a "good shooter and passer," and Sackette is also a fine scorer.

The Panthers opened their season on a losing note last week when Lynbrook dumped them 48-36.

After falling behind 15-9 at the end of the first quarter, Prospect rallied and, heading into the final stanza, they were ahead of Lynbrook 27-25. The Vikings, however, exploded in the fourth period, outscoring Prospect 23-9.

"We got behind early in the fourth quarter and started pressing to try and keep up with them," noted Robinson. "But we made too many mistakes, particularly with fouls."

The Panthers actually outshot the Vikes from the floor, canning 15 field goals to Lynbrook's 12. But on the free throw line the Vikings scored 24 points compared to a mere six for Prospect.

Samson topped the Panthers in scoring with eight points, followed closely by Browning with seven, Laspina with six, Marsh with five and Walters and Griffin with four apiece. Sackette chipped in one bucket.

The Panthers will next see action December 13, 14 and 15 at the Live Oak Invitational at Live Oak.

Mighty Mites win eight of eight straight 'skates'

The Eastridge Mites are indeed mighty.

The local ice hockey squad skated to their eighth win in as many outings recently when they blanked Belmont 5-0 at Belmont.

Andy Buchanan chalked up the shut-out in the Mite's net. Rickey Pitta drilled in a pair of goals to pace the offense. Jeff Schmoke, Bob Newman and Jim Dibari all tallied solo goals.

The Squirts also remained unbeaten by romping past Belmont 4-1. David Elias, Scott Herbert, Greg Powers and Joey Driscal each scored goals.

The Pee Wees and Bantams both enjoyed easy wins over a pair of stockton opponents. The Pee Wees raised their league record to 6-3 by skating to a 5-1 triumph.

Rick Smithson, Wayne Powers, Steve Powers, Michael Porowski and Craig Brown all popped in goals.

The Bantams won their game 4-0 on goals by Steve McCargo, Mike McIntyre, Stephen Driscal and Randy Julian.

The midgets were blanked by Berkeley 9-0.

Eastridge's division I club was blanked by Berkeley 4-0. The division II club whipped Sacramento 10-4. Jeff Cohen and Ron Smithson both had three goal hat tricks to lead the rout. Biff Herbert tallied twice and Brent McHenry and Kevin Edwards both chipped in with single goals.

The division III squad skated to a 4-4 tie against Belmont. Eric Schoen, Doug Carver, Randy Mancini and Jon Linthacum all found the inside of Belmont's net with their shots.

In the previous week action, the Mites clobbered Sacramento, 10-1. Gordon Burkitt and Pitta both turned in hat tricks while Kevin Breault added two goals and Chris McCargo and Brad Cohen each scored once.

Joey Driscal's five goal performance and Greg Powers' hat trick lifted the Squirts to a 10-0 victory over Hayward. Pat O'Connell and Dallas Denery each contributed solo scores.

The Pee Wees edged Belmont 4-2. Powers scored twice and Porowski and Jim McIntyre both tallied once.

Saturday the Squirts host Santa Rosa at 4:45 p.m.

Sunday the Mites visit Santa Rosa for a 5:45 p.m. clash. The Pee Wees and Bantams host Belmont in 7:30 p.m. and 8:45 p.m. contests, respectively.

The Midgets will trek to San Francisco for a 5:50 p.m. encounter Sunday.

Big cycle racing card at fairgrounds promised

With 311 entries competing in November 24's indoor sportsman motorcycle racing program in San Jose, this Friday night's December 7 action promises to be equally tight.

The Santa Clara county fairgrounds Exposition Hall will again ring with the sound of 100cc up to 360cc racing machines as the program gets under way at 7 p.m. following the 5:30 p.m. practice sessions.

Napa's Dennis Robinson came away Saturday with his second 360cc expert main event of the young season, streaking to the win over fellow Yamaha rider Jerry Kole of Pacifica. Roy Taboada of Millbrae took a third aboard his Bultaco.

Action will again be vigorous in the 12 hotly contested main events that stem from the earlier heat races in the 13 expert, junior and novice racing classes that produce a variety of equipment.

The smallest class, the 100cc novice division, was won by a Kawasaki with Fremont's Chris Paulson at the controls. Bultaco and Ossa also joined the main event winner's circle.

In past weeks Suzuki, Honda, Hodaka, Triumph and Montesa have entered the prestigious circle of winners.

Friday's American Motorcycle association sanctioned event will be the last in the San Jose series.

Tickets available for annual Cable Car Classic

Three of the top 10 ranked college basketball teams in America will be vying for the 1973 Cable Car Classic championship which starts Friday night, Dec. 21.

The University of San Francisco Dons, ranked as high as third in the country by some experts, will take on powerful Maryland, ranked among the nation's top teams, in the featured first round action. The Dons and Maryland, led by all-Americans Tom McMillen and Len Elmore, will clash at the Oakland Coliseum arena in a 9 p.m. contest.

The other first round tilt is between the Santa Clara University, three-time Cable Car Classic champs, and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, which starts at 7 p.m. The Broncos feature ex-Silver Creek Raider aces Vester Robinson and Cliff Morgan.

Tickets for the Cable Car Classic, priced at $6 and $4 with kids tickets for half price, are now on sale at USF, Santa Clara, the Oakland Coliseum and all Coliseum outlets as well as at the Golden State Warrior's office in San Francisco.

Spinners challenge state, local leaders

The San Jose Spinners handicapped basketball team has challenged a team of state and community leaders to a game of wheelchair basketball.

The contest will take place at Pioneer high school, 1290 Blossom Hill rd., San Jose, Friday, Dec. 14 at 7:30 p.m.

Everyone is invited and tickets will be available at the door. Price of admission is $2 for adults and $1 for persons 18 and under.

Vikes dominate CNC water polo selections

After dominating the Camino Norte conference in soccer, the West Valley college Vikings dominated the all-CNC team announced by the league office.

Ace goalie Rich Rutgers (Westmont), fullback Casey High (Saratoga) and forwards Al DaSilva (San Jose) and Jim Brown (Mitty) all were tabbed to the first team. DaSilva was the Vike's leading scorer this season with 11 goals followed by Brown's nine.

Abel Azevedo (Santa Clara) and Mario Lopez (Wilcox) were both honorably mentioned.

The Vike's football team was able to land just two players on the all-CNC grid squad after their third place finish this year. Ken Padia (Leigh) was named to the defensive unit as a lineman and tackle Steve Williams (Del Mar) was tabbed to the offense. Padia was named to the first team defensive unit last year also.

Linebacker Jim Wittman (Blackford) and tight end John Baggerly (Los Gatos) both received honorable mention.

PROLIFIC SCORER — One of the area's most prolific scorers was Del Mar's Mickey Plesha. Not only did the Don quarterback throw for 11 six pointers, but he also ran for six himself to account for 17 of DM's 25 TDs.

WVAL teams watch Falcons soar after well-thought campaign

By DICK SPARRER
Sports Editor

It always makes a team feel better to see the champion of their league go on and whip champions of other leagues. It makes them feel that maybe their league was stronger than many of the others around.

The teams of the West Valley athletic league must have that good feeling after the Saratoga Falcons won the loop title, then mowed down the Comets of James Lick, champs of the Mt. Hamilton athletic league, 38-12. Lick had beaten Santa Teresa athletic league kingpin Pioneer 36-0 a week earlier.

So at least the rest of the WVAL teams have consolation in the fact that their representative tore up all of the opposition in Region III and is now favored to go on and win the Central coast section title.

But it's not just because their champion is rolling on in the CCS that gives the rest of the WVAL a sense of pride — they also can take pride in a well fought campaign.

The Wildcats of Los Gatos gained second and Branham and Leigh tied for third. But everybody managed at least a win and registered other tight decisions in WVAL play.

Campbell high played Saratoga closest in league competition, holding the Falcons to their lowest point output of the year and giving them a real first half scare.

The Falcons went on to claim a narrow 18-8 victory over the Bucs who finished the year tied with Del Mar for fifth at 5-4.

One of their losses was a close 6-0 setback at the hands of those Dons that forced the fifth place tie. A win in that one for the Bucs would have given them a share of third.

Tom Davis led the Bucs in scoring with seven touchdowns and a two point conversion for 44 points. His longest TD run was for 67 yards against Los Gatos.

Tom Guardino scored three TDs, kicked three extra points, scored a two pointer and booted a field goal for the Bucs to end with 26 points. Jim Knight, Ted Borns, Gil de la Pena, John Navarro, John McMongle, Al Mancinez, Tim Mason, Greg Oswald and Ted Bertron also hit the scoring column for Campbell.

Del Mar was led by the combination of Wade Fearnside and Mickey Plesha. Fearnside scored nine touchdowns and Plesha tallied six, adding 11 paydirt passes. Ken Hightower scored 26 points, Lou Valetta 18, Tony Caravelli eight, Jeff Harris 11, Kirk Poppey six and Neal Robb six.

Camden sat behind the Bucs and Dons in the final standings with a 3-6 record, good for seventh. Steve Wilson was the top Cougar scorer with 25 points and tossed four touchdown passes. Dave Pursey scored 18, Al Aufang 14, Marty Mullins 12 and Gary Newton, Rick Davis, Scott Greco and Gordon Storga six each.

All alone in the loop's number eight position was Westmont at 2-7. Keith Van Amburg led the Warriors with 26 points and Chuck Warada, who scored once, threw three touchdown passes. Bert Codera and Pat Owens scored 20 each, Tim Hart 12 and Mark Browning, Jerry Porter, Gary Sanden and Byron Nobriga six each. Tom Papa's two pointer and a safety by the defense accounted for the other Warrior points.

Blackford and Prospect shared the league cellar with 1-8 records. The Braves beat Camden 19-7 and Prospect took Blackford 28-0 for their only wins.

Brad Guenther threw for six of Prospect's 14 touchdowns and scored one himself. Nick Bibich scored four times and Mark Ashman and Scott Feldman two each. Greg Silva, Kent Knutson, John Stewart, Mark Brownell and Ross McCammon each scored a TD and Silva and Jeff Freitas tallied two pointers. Robert Timpany kicked eight extra points.

Topping Blackford's scoring list was Tom Blandford with three six pointers. Wayne Hagin, Mark Gonsalves, Joe Sanchez, Stan Yoshihara, Dennis Dunnigan, Ken Ucci and Jim Aiello each scored a touchdown. Mitch Flynn kicked five PATs and threw for a pair of touchdowns and Gary Cloman ran for a two pointer. Joe Sanchez booted one one pointer and Ucci connected on one TD pass.

No prediction by Warriors but 'should be near top'

Westmoor Warrior basketball coach Gary Brinck isn't about to make any kind of prediction about the upcoming 1973-74 West Valley athletic league cage season.

"Del Mar has to be the favorite," admits Brinck. "But after them the league is pretty balanced and with an 18 game schedule anything can happen."

That's right, an 18 game schedule! The WVAL will play a full two rounds of basketball with the winner-take-all at the end of the season. That is to say, there will be no Shaughnessy play-offs in the WVAL this season.

So the way Brinck sees it, injuries are bound to come into play. The club that stays the healthiest will more than likely stand a good chance of finishing at the top of the league.

"I think we can be near the top this season," notes Brinck. "But a lot depends on how healthy we stay."

Brinck also feels Camden, Saratoga and Branham are contenders for the loop title along with Del Mar.

For the Warriors to remain in contention they must get good play out of their three returning starters — center David Watson, forward Brian Howell and guard Brad Boltinger.

Howell was a second team all-league performer in 1972-73 and was the Warriors' second leading scorer, averaging 12 points per game.

Boltinger, a 5'9" playmaker, set a new assists record at Westmont last year, handing out 104 for an average of 11 a game.

Watson, at 6'3", should give the Warriors good board strength along with 6'5" Howell and junior forward Robby Stegman, also 6'5".

Stegman was an all-league center on the f-s level last year and was the Warriors' top scorer.

Other players who figure into the Warriors' picture this season are forwards Tim Lund, Brian Esilaben and Brian McFadden, guards Cortie Dove, Jeff Martins and Brent Norman and center Pat Sampino.

The Warriors initiate the 1973-74 cage season Wednesday night in their own Westmont invitational basketball tourney. The Warriors open with Leland in an 8:30 p.m. contest.

Giant boosters announce series of winter meetings

"THE BASEBALL season is 12 months long if you're a Giants' Booster," said club president Allan B. Murray, announcing a series of winter baseball dinners hosting the Giants players and management.

"We call 'em 'Hot Stove League' dinners and they're lots of fun," added Murray. They begin Dec. 4 in Marin and carry on to San Francisco, the Peninsula, San Jose and Sacramento in January and February. Brief introductions of the Giant players and guests, plus the first showing of the film of Giants' highlights are the only formal parts of the dinner program.

"OUR CLUB IS constantly on the go year around," said Murray. "Before the season opens, we follow the Giants team to Phoenix for the spring training and exhibition games. When they go to Japan or Hawaii, we're there, too. During the season we'll go to the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown plus all the National league cities. Then, after the series, we'll skip down to the Caribbean to watch some of the Giants play winter ball in the Dominican Republic. Also, one of the club's highlights will be a "747 Party" in tribute to Lon Simmons and Willie McCovey. We're the most active support club in major league baseball."

A complete schedule of the dates and locations of the "Hot Stove League" dinners is available from Murray, PO Box 570, San Rafael (94902), or phone Murray at 415-456-6633.

Prospect teachers battle students

The Prospect letterman's club will hold a benefit basketball game between the Panther faculty and the varsity team Wednesday night at the Prospect gym.

The game, which gets underway at 8 p.m., will feature such faculty members as Earl Adams, Bert Robinson, the head basketball coach for the Panthers, Bill Augenstein, Dave Johnson and John Melvin.

(Photography by Bruce McClelland)

Bells end season on a winning note

Bellarmine's King ended his high school career on a royal note recently against the Riordan Crusaders to lead the Bells to a 19-10 season finale victory.

The Bell's King, Marty by first name, rushed for 81 yards and threw for 78 more, including a game winning touchdown.

His touchdown pass, the second of the season for the 205 pound senior, increased the Bell's lead to 19-7 in the third period and Bellarmine coasted the rest of the way to finished the season with a 3-3 record in the West Catholic athletic league. They were 6-4 overall.

FOUR PLAYS into the game, Riordan struck for its only touchdown combining two Bell penalties and a 27 yard drive for six points. Crusader playmaker Tim Dudley nosed into paydirt from two yards and kicker Frank Jordan helped put seven Riordan points on the scoreboard.

Bell halfback Peter Grassi led a prompt retort gaining 40 yards as the Bellarmine offense pushed 74 yards for a touchdown. Jeff Javier capped the drive weaving through the Crusader defensive line and streaking 32 yards for the Bell's first score seven minutes into the first quarter.

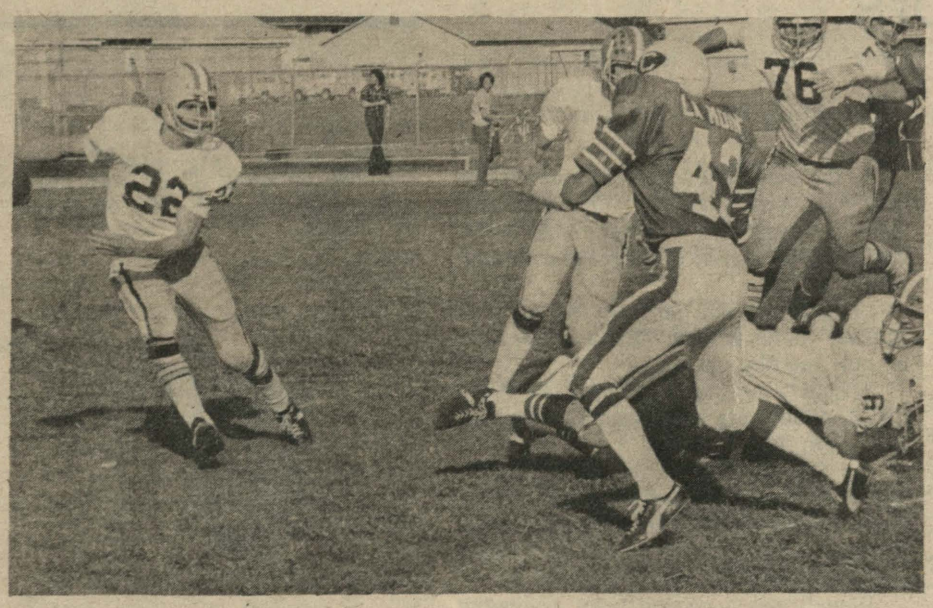
Midway through the second quarter passing fullback King completed a 50-yard aerial to Bell split end Kevin Crowley. Peter Grassi galloped the remaining four yards handing Bellarmine a 13-7 halftime margin.

THE BELLS drove for six more points in the third stanza when King tossed a 10-yard pass to receiver Tim Schmidt.

Riordan grabbed three more points in the fourth quarter. Kicker Frank Jordan booted a line-drive 37-yard field goal which allowed the Crusaders to creep within nine points of the Bells.

However, a strong defensive performance by George Perry, the Bell's 210-pound guard, crippled the Riordan running game. Forced to pass, Crusader quarterback Dudley threw a pair of interceptions collected by backfield defenders Mike McPherson and Kevin Woods.

★ PRESS athlete of the week ★



LARRY LA MOINE
CAMPBELL BUCCANEERS
Football . . . safety

A tough hitter for the Bucs all year, LaMoine was one of Campbell's top defensemen all season at his strong safety post.

LaMoine came up many times from his safety spot to hit Los Gatos Wildcat ball carriers for little gains. Against the Cats Larry had many crucial tackles.

For his performance on Thanksgiving Day, LaMoine has been picked the Campbell Press athlete of the week. Because he has been named the week's best, Larry will receive a coupon for a free pizza at the Straw Hat pizza parlor, 1400 W. Campbell ave., and a picture of himself in action.

The Bucs lost on Turkey Day but LaMoine turned in a super performance. He was one of the top Buc tacklers in the game, just as he's best all year. In one game this season the 5'9", 155 pound safety had 20 tackles.

Others considered for athlete of the week honors in the Press were Tom Davis and Tom Bojorques, Campbell football; Charlie Husa and Wayne Hagin, Blackford football; Ross McCammon, Dave Watts and Chris Woodhouse, Prospect football; and Wade Fearnside, Ken Bondelie and Jeff Toews, Del Mar football.

WVC cagers face two opponents in three days

Looking to sharpen their outside shooting eyes, the West Valley college basketball squad will play two games within three days this week.

The Vikes travel to Pleasant Hill Thursday night for an 8 p.m. shoot-out with Diablo Valley college. Saturday evening the Vikes trek to Hayward for an 8 p.m. tip with Chabot.

West Valley will need more hot shooters than they had against Santa Barbara recently if they hope to record wins this weekend.

With the exception of returning letterman Paul Arace (De Mar) and John Freeman, the Vikes were extremely cold from the field against Santa Barbara in their season inaugural, connecting on just 28 of 85 shots (33 per cent).

Arace was the only consistent scoring threat for WVC, hitting nine of 18 shots from the floor and adding two free throws to top the Vikes in scoring with 20 points.

Freeman, who was five of nine from the floor, chipped in with 10 points as the only other Vike in double figures. Mark Bonechio (Leigh) and Craig Perkins (Saratoga) both meshed eight points.

The Vikes were hurt both offensively and defensively by the absence of 6'8" center Bill Becker (Wilcox), who got into early foul trouble and wound up fouling out of the game early in the second half after seeing just 12 minutes of playing time.

The big pivotman finished the night with just two points and two rebounds.

Trying to take up the slack on the boards were Bill Gerth (Westmont) and Bill Magnuson (Blackford), both cagers pulling down eight caroms apiece.

The Vikes also lost the second annual alumni game the previous night at Campbell high school, falling to the oldsters 32-29. Kirk Ladine (1967-68) paced the winners with 15 points, including seven of nine from the charity stripe. Becker topped the varsity with 14 points.
